GERMANS LOSE 4 TOWNS IN DONETZ TRAP

CAPTURE of the important railway junctions of Likhaya and Novocherkassk, in the Donetz bend, was reported in last night's special Soviet communiqué. The fall of these strongly defended positions indicates that the Germans are now being thrown neck-and-crop out of the whole area north-east of Rostov.

Berlin Admits New Peril

THE frankest and the most revealing broadcast ever made from Berlin came last night from Captain Sutorius, military commentator for the Transoceanic News Agency, the German overseas news organisation.

For the first time it was admitted that the moment basic was going on in the Donetz Basin, that large Russian reserves had been thrown into the battle, and that German action to withstand this attack had not yet had "its full effect."

Mr. Sutorius' fierce fighting as going on in the Kharkov area, with GREAT RUSSIAN SUPERIORITY.

And he finished his broadcast by predicting a great Russian offensive on the central sector of the Eastern Front.

This is the Moscow area, from Thessaloniki on the northern side of Moscow to the Black Sea port of Odessa.

His broadcasts do not go to listeners inside Germany but are highly regarded in Britain, where they can be picked up in France and Spain.

THREATENING FLOOD

Admissions equally frank and significant were made by Hans Fritzsche, Goebbels' star radio commentator, and by many German people over Berlin Radio that Russian flood was threatening every town.

The driving power of the Soviet assault, which began 12 weeks ago, "was not yet spent," he declared, and could not be diminished.

Then a German military spokesman added:

The German salient from near Schlesseburg on the Leninigrad front has been withdrawn several miles.

This is the only movement so far reported on the Leningrad front.

Berlin in the past few days has passed through a period of intense attacks on its front, but no announcement has yet come from Moscow or Berlin.

ROTS SURPRISE

Cod Ute Biasto, Renni Radio's military commentator, last night admitted that the main bulk of the power of the Russians had caught all military experts napping. Since it had not spoken of the offensive, he said, the enemy coalition has continued, he said.

It is an undeniable fact that this attack has surprised him.

The Russian front from in particular has witnessed complete surprise and numberless successes in material. This has come as a surprise to all and not in the least, he added.

Axis Face Their Worst Disaster

ALL the disasters that have overtaken Hitler's armies in Russia, one of the greatest appears to be the loss of the Caucasus. Russian forces are pursuing the Axis troops across the Caucasus, and railway station on Zverev.

"Our troops captured the town of Krasnodar yesterday," he said. "In the Ukraine our troops as a result of stubborn fighting, occupied the town and railway station on Zverev."

ESCAPE GAP SHRINKS

Earlier, Harold King had called from Moscow:

Russian tanks south-west of Kharkov have captured three more inhabited points, only 15 miles from the front, while Soviet Russia continues to shell the Rostov pocket.

Rostov itself is reported to be in flames as Red Army tanks have reached the west of Krasnodar.

Huns Prepare New Line For Last Stand

THAT German's defeat is inevitable has been admitted by Dr. Benes, President of Czechoslovakia, in a broadcast to his people last night.

Today no victory over the world can stop our victory over Berlin," Dr. Benes said.

Dr. Benes emphasised that the German army, which had units in Russia had grown into a real catastrophe for the whole Central European alliance.

Within a few weeks or months, he said, "they will no longer be able to stand, already being prepared far in the rear."

I myself, according to reports we have already have about this, that this attempt may be the place perhaps only for a short time, but it will come on the Dnieper and before long, and then perhaps finally on the Donets, and then again on the Dniester. There they will resist again for a short time.

Hilter has already informed Finns, Romanians and Hungarians that they must stand, and that their army will be struck by the ultimate catastrophe."

AXIS RUSH UP THEIR NEWEST TANKS AND GUNS

Patrols Liven Up All Tunisia Front

THOUGH bad weather still holds up major fighting in Tunisia, yesterday's North Africa communiqué revealed that patrol activity has flared up over the whole front. In a series of successful raids we took many prisoners.

British and American troops are nibbling at the Axis positions at various points for the main offensive, and the patrol actions are providing much useful information about the enemy's strength and weakness.

On the eastern slopes of Oussama Valley the Germans are making a strong thrust before dawn against the British position, but after a sharp brush they withdraw.

French Spahis took 53 prisoners in the hills near Pointe du Four.

In the south, British killed ten of a German patrol and took one prisoner.

French patrols increased south-east of Gafsa. On this sector, according to Axis reports, American patrols have taken out posts in the direction of Faids.

All this patrol work has given the Axis a better picture of the Axis dispositions.

It is now established that part of Rommel's African Corps is in Constantine, and the screens of German and Italian troops to guard the Marche Line.

German weapons have been used to sweep the panzers.

FACTORY-FRESH PLANES

The two new tanks and antiaircraft guns, including the 78 mm anti-air gun, which American officers declare to be as reliable as the 88 mm gun used in Libya.

Let's Talk It Over

"MAN O' THE PEOPLE" Writes on

"Things That Matter to You and Me"

A SOLDIER OF THE FIRST ARMY LOOKS OUT OVER "THE TUNISIAN TIP."

WITHIN the next nine months Great Britain and America will have opened up a tremendous general offensive against the Axis powers. Our Allies and President Roosevelt have given this joint assurance to the world. They have also told the enemy to drive the enemy into the sea, and the actual invasion of Europe will come or, for all we yet can tell, precede this relentless enterprise.

The Premier and the President were both in confident mood as the two leaders met at Casablanca. The other broadcast from Washington. Commenting their great speeches, Sir Harold Nicolson, the Goering-Goebbelz frenzies, the German public must now be sunk in a deep depression.

For now they must learn the final meaning of that terrible word—confidence. It will not end until the United Nations have massed their forces and driven the cowering Nazis who are waging upon Hitler's U-boats.

No longer ever will they defer to the aggressors. They will have to "burn and bleed" until they make their unconditional surrender.

EVERAL things had been agreed at Casablanca, it was only natural that the two leaders should have reported upon this conference in much the same way.

Both stressed their resolve to give the magnificent Russian army all the support and assistance both are determined to relieve the pressure of the Russian front.

The President, in the course of his address, emphasised the fact that "we are in the same neighbourhood" and that there can be no lasting peace which fails to do justice to the principles of human race. But he was no less implacable than Winston in pronouncing the doom of the aggressor nations; the final and irrevocable destruction of Hitler.

The world can rest assured, he declared, that this total war is not to be won by the weaker side, or even with the remotest idea of keeping the Quislings or Laval in power anywhere on the earth.

MR. CHURCHILL made no boasts and neither did the Prime Minister, but both planned that the attack on the Atlantic would be for the sake of the world.

But the world, which there, rang a note of menace to our foes. "We have to make the enemy men in Africa may agree to such blood and gore," he said, "in every way that is possible."

"Great Britain and the United States are now warrior nations, and we are determined to be very heavily armed and with an increasingly clear view of their enemies."

Clearly it was not possible for the Premier to acquaint us with the details of the secret plan at Casablanca, but he did give us reassurance. In regard to the Tunisian tip, he said: "We are in the case to supply to our friends or to convey the tools of war to our friends."

The submarine menace is still the most serious which the world will have to face, but it is being kept under control. Hitler has failed to delay our victory, and we shall not be defeated us with them.

We are sinking them faster than they are building, and the number of new ships is now so vast that we can count upon having more ships at the end of the year than we had at the end of 1942.

OUR correspondents share the disappointment expressed by several Members of Parliament that the Prime Minister could or would not give the tiny nation enlightenment which have been made with the French administration in North Africa by former Vichy politicians.

Of course, the political ice is thin and Mr. Churchill may have felt obliged to skirt over it very quietly.

Yet Mr. Robert Boothby, who has just come back from Algiers, called him a "political seer" and Mr. Strode expressed a well-founded opinion that the latest news from the Russian front goes far to show that Germany will be beaten.

The world can rest assured, he declared, that this total war is not to be won by the weaker side, or even with the remotest idea of keeping the Quislings or Laval in power anywhere on the earth.

their own differences at least for the duration of the war, but the doubt persists in this writer's mind whether the Government will pay a high price for present expediency after the war is won.

With the coming of the winter uneasiness is the present reason for it is that we are developing a greater need for space to carry supplies to our friends or to convey the tools of war to our friends.

ALL along "Man o' the People" has felt and said that "the risk" of early victory is no less real than the "rise" means that when "the shooting war" ends, the war against the Nazis will continue.

The hope remains that Frenchmen in Africa may agree to such Goebbels is apparently too nervous to take strong action.

In effect, this means that discontent in the Third Reich is growing.

It is worth noting that, so far, no organised opposition has raised its voice against the Russian front. The German Nazi broadcaster recognises the growing public discontent by giving air time to hospital nurses.

It is as definite as it is significant. In regard to nursing, the people's wishes are clear.

Nazi Invasion Jitters

IT is the same story of Nazi invasion jitters throughout Europe—a story which may have had no small contribution to the confidence of Mr. Churchill's review of the war. As I watched him speak I could not help thinking that, taken on balance between military and other 'total war' fronts, Germany under Hitler has entered on the last, perhaps not too long, lap of the race."

HITLER HAS ONLY TWO CARDS LEFT—BOTH LOSERS

FROM OUR DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENT

THE continued success of the Russian offensive only stresses the desperation of the German position. It is not yet generally realised that the Reichswehr have suffered the greatest defeat in their history, indeed the most complete and in the greatest battle ever fought, and now they are in danger of suffering even heavier losses.

Exclusive of associated casualties, in a few weeks at Stalingrad alone they lost a force as great as the entire B.E.F. in France before Dunkirk. Both before and since the Reichswehr casualty list has never been less than 5,000 men a day, often 10,000 to 30,000.

Today nearly one million more Germans in the Donets area are loops and to the north are threatened with annihilation or capture.

Against this Russian background Mr. Churchill's speech and Mr. Roosevelt's broadcast must have sounded like the crack of doom in Berlin.

The German people, who have twisted claims of victory, tempting prospects and territorial gains had once given Hitler the best guarantee for infallibility and the invincibility of the Reichswehr.

The Russian offensive has put an end to all that. The German people know that Hitler and his army are bound with equal impartiality and will continue to be bounded by fate, though not for want of trying.

THAT is why, for one thing, Stalin has shattered every recent Nazi boast of invincibility and, as it were, has made them look as if they were any eclipse of his genius. For another, the Churchill assurances which Hitler's greater problems, and as far as I can gather they have not yet got far in dealing with, have not been met.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech has given Hitler a chance to play the first and that we shall overplay the second.

It is clear that the developments of the next phase of the war both as regards timing of all major operations, relations of the ebb and flow of actual battle may prove a great shock for the Nazis and have to be received.

Official Berlin, to judge from the Nazis' own reports, is in such a state of panic that they have been warned to expect anything—even the "fantastic impossible" to happen within a month.

Yet no assurance of victory dare be offered.

Even the most carefully-calculated department of nerve warfare, the Nazis have been taking a rap! Hitler's speeches, however, go much deeper than immediate home reactions, which may be easily controlled by Gestapo can control for some time at any rate.

For the time being, however, the manoeuvre is becoming apparent. Whether the bulk of the retreating Reichswehr in the Donets are declared impregnable they

AIR MAIL ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

During the winter it is often impossible to obtain sufficient aircraft space to enable the whole of the Air Mail for Canada, Newfoundland, the United States of America and beyond to be carried by air across the Atlantic. To avoid delay some of the mails have to be sent by sea.

The public can help themselves and the Post Office by using the Air Mail service as sparingly as possible.

To Canada and Newfoundland there is an Airgraph Service. Airgraphs are always carried by air and the public are recommended to use them wherever the service is available.

Women's Call To M.P.s

LEGALISE PROXY MARRIAGES

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

THE National Council of Women has asked the Government to introduce legislation to permit marriage by proxy. They say that proxy weddings would be a boon to many men and women in the Services.

They propose that, for example, a girl in Britain and a soldier in North Africa should be able to get married without having to wait till the man can come home on leave.

Some men could not remain for months, or years.

It is proposed that proxy marriages should be limited to cases where there are good reasons for deviation from the normal marriage laws.

There is a certain degree of sarcasm hidden in their proposal to suggest that men everywhere at once, and admiring by their own action, that Hitler's Rundstedt, Nazi Officer Commanding Western Europe, is known to have spent all but a few days of the last three months in racing from defence system to defence system both in the north and south of France.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech has given Hitler a chance to play the first and that we shall overplay the second.

Even the most carefully-calculated department of nerve warfare, the Nazis have been taking a rap!

Hitler's speeches, however, go much deeper than immediate home reactions, which may be easily controlled by Gestapo can control for some time at any rate.

For the time being, however, the manoeuvre is becoming apparent. Whether the bulk of the retreating Reichswehr in the Donets are declared impregnable they are bound with equal impartiality and will continue to be bound by fate, though not for want of trying.
